I understand that LPFM will take priority over FM translator service in the San Diego area. This is concerning to me because the station I listen to most of the time is on an FM translator.

I listen to KLOVE, a station which provides positive music that I can have on with my children in the car. I don't have to worry about raunchy humor and my family can stay in touch with what is happening in our community. It would be a huge loss to the San Diego area to lose KLOVE. It fills a need, has music and programing that no other station in the San Diego area offers.
